

TLS 16

The 16th meeting of the Texas Linguistic Society will take place February 19–20, 2016 at the University of Texas at Austin. Our keynote speakers include Lisa Matthewson (The University of British Columbia), Jürgen Bohnemeyer (University at Buffalo), Hans Kamp (University of Stuttgart; University of Texas at Austin).

Call For Papers

We invite papers from all areas of linguistics, but especially encourage submissions relevant to our special session, entitled “Lexical Aspect and Temporality.” There is a great deal of typological diversity with respect to how languages encode temporality and aspectual information, and we are particularly interested in papers that focus on these topics from a wide variety of approaches.

Requirements:

- Maximum 500 words for the text of the abstract. The abstract title, text, examples, figures, and references must not exceed two pages.
- All abstracts will be reviewed anonymously. The abstract should not include the authors name, affiliation, or other identifying information; be careful that your name and email are not automatically embedded by your word processor.
- To submit your abstract, send it in PDF format to tls.conference@gmail.com. Include the paper title and names of all authors and their affiliations in the body of the email.

Deadline: November 1, 2015

Notifications of acceptance or rejection will be sent out by December 15, 2015.

Presentations will be 20 minutes in length, with 10 minutes for questions.

Maximum of two abstracts per individual; maximum of one solo abstract per individual.

This Call for Papers can also be found at the conference website:

<http://uts.cc.utexas.edu/~tls/2016tls/>